Special Olympics Canada Guiding Principles

Our Vision

Our vision is that sport will open hearts and minds towards people with intellectual disabilities and create inclusive communities all across Canada.

Our Mission

Special Olympics Canada is dedicated to enriching the lives of Canadians with intellectual disabilities through sport.

Numbers Across the Country

This year, we saw numbers begin to grow close to pre-pandemic registration, in both volunteers and active athletes.

Sport and Program Highlights

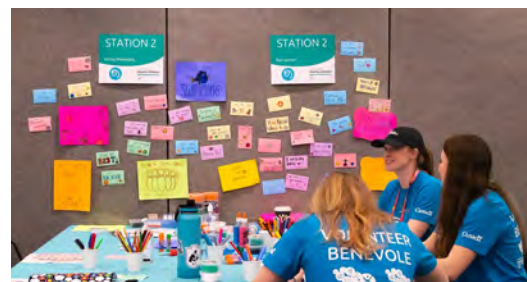

Coaching Education

Special Olympics Canada training programs are designed to ensure that coaches are able to meet the needs of any athlete involved in our organization with both confidence and skill. The National Coaching Certification Program Development underwent major revisions and then relaunched to our coaches.

Launched NextGen Coaching Apprentice Program to develop younger coaches and prepare them for coaching opportunities at future National and World Games. By providing each Chapter with 2 quota spots on their Provincial/Territorial Teams set to attend the upcoming National Games in Calgary, we are nurturing our next generation of leaders.

Special Olympics Healthy Athletes initiative is a cornerstone program of our movement, offering health services and education for all Special Olympics athletes. Aiming to revolutionize the way health systems engage with individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD). Through a combination of free health screenings, training for healthcare professionals and evaluation of the health status of people with an IDD, this program has been making a significant impact in communities across Canada. Within 2023-2024, 1618 individual athletes were screened in Healthy Athletes nationwide.

Healthy Athletes

Indigenous Inclusion

Special Olympics Canada has committed to increasing Indigenous Engagement across partnerships and programs.

By focusing on three areas; meaningful relationships and collaboration, training and education, and resource development, we aim to build a foundation that can be built upon for years to come.

Coach Developers play a critical role in the delivery and implementation of the National Coaching Certification Program. A team of Master Coach Developers was selected to support Learning Facilitators across the country in their delivery of the updated program, and to continue to uphold delivery standards nation-wide.

21 coaches, across 6 sports participated in the NextGen Coaching Apprentice Program. Apprentice coaches participated in virtual and in-person professional development seminars and were celebrated at the 2024 Special Olympics Canada National Winter Games.

Research

Depression

In January 2023, groundbreaking research led by Dr. Meghann Lloyd, Dr. Yona Lunsky, and their team revealed that young adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD) who participate in the Special Olympics are 49% less likely to develop depression compared to their peers who do not participate. The study emphasizes the powerful role of Special Olympics in promoting physical activity, social skill development, and fostering friendships, all of which contribute to mental well-being. By comparing depression rates between Special Olympics participants and non-participants with IDD, the research found that those involved in Special Olympics had a significantly lower risk of depression—essentially halving the likelihood of experiencing depression.

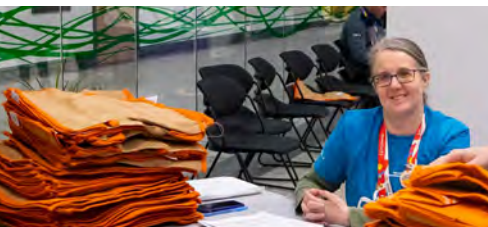

Diabetes

In July 2024, new research led by Dr. Meghann Lloyd and colleagues at the Faculty of Health Sciences at Ontario Tech University, published in Diabetic Medicine, revealed that participation in Special Olympics programming is linked to a significantly lower risk of diabetes among adults with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD).

This study highlights the important role that participation in a variety of Special Olympics programs—such as sports, health programs, and planned social activities—plays in promoting not only mental well-being but also long-term physical health, providing individuals with IDD a unique opportunity to reduce their risk of chronic health conditions like diabetes.

National Awards Night 2023

Since 1989, Special Olympics Canada has honoured athletes and volunteers for remarkable achievements that contribute to and strengthen the Special Olympics movement across the country. Each year, achievements are recognized through a National Awards program that includes several distinct categories – athletes, teams, coaches, as well as operational and fundraising volunteers that contribute at both the local and national levels.

For the fourth year in a row, the Awards Night celebration took place virtually and was co-hosted by TSN's Vic Rauter and Special Olympics athlete Annick Léger.

LIMITLESS: The Special Olympics Gala

On Friday, November 17 more than 780 Special Olympics Canada supporters gathered at the Fairmont Royal York in Toronto, to celebrate the transformative power of sport and raise critical funds for the movement. Thanks to Co-Presenting Sponsors Deloitte and Empire Company Limited and other generous champions, the Gala was a smashing success, raising over $1.7M for Special Olympics Canada and athletes across the country. Highlights of the evening included our keynote speaker, Special Olympics athlete Annick Leger, hosts Jennifer Hedger and Lindsay Hamilton from TSN, O Canada performer and Special Olympics athlete Alec Baldwin, and the LIMITLESS dance crew. Annick's story of overcoming challenges and the impact of Special Olympics on her life resonated with guests and brought everyone to their feet for a standing ovation. It was a fantastic evening of inspiration and celebration. A special thank you to members of the LIMITLESS volunteer committee, for their tireless efforts.

Thank you to our National Partners

Our National Partners provide us with the resources to change the lives of thousands of Special Olympics athletes, not only by providing critical funding, but by using their reach and influence to help us raise awareness, promote inclusion and share the transformative power of sport among Canadians with and without intellectual and developmental disabilities. Their financial and in-kind contributions provide essential support that helps us to deliver grassroots sports programs to communities large and small across the country. To all our partners – thank you for your ongoing support, we could not do it without you.
