Travis Lulay, Don Hay backing 2015 Special Olympics BC Winter Games

Travis Lulay and Don Hay will lend star support to the 2015 Special Olympics BC Winter Games in Kamloops next week, serving as Honorary Coaches walking with regional teams into the Games Opening Ceremony on February 19.

BC Lions quarterback Lulay, the 2011 CFL and Grey Cup most valuable player, has a long relationship with Special Olympics, as he started giving his time and support to the movement during his university years in Montana and got involved with Special Olympics BC in 2011 after joining the Lions. Lulay has attended three previous Special Olympics Provincial and National Games as an Honorary Coach, and is an enthusiastic, engaging, and articulate supporter of Special Olympics athletes.

"Special Olympics gives these athletes such a sense of self-worth, and you can see it come out every single time they compete. That's what's really encouraging. And knowing the families of Special Olympics athletes are such giving people, they're so excited to see that person compete and have fun doing it, and have such a sense of self-worth, and getting better time and again," Lulay says.

Kamloops Blazers Head Coach Hay, the three-time Memorial Cup-winning team leader, has also graciously jumped on board to give added star power to the 2015 SOBC Games Opening Ceremony and help celebrate the achievements of the athletes coming to Kamloops. Lulay and Hay will enter the Opening Ceremony at the Tournament Capital Centre with the regional teams comprised of more than 700 Special Olympics athletes and coaches from all over B.C. and the Yukon.

"I am honoured to represent the Kamloops Blazers and be a part of the 2015 Special Olympics BC Winter Games Opening Ceremony in my hometown of Kamloops. All of the participants are tremendous athletes that strive to achieve the very best. This is a terrific event for our community and I wish the best of luck to all the participating athletes," Hay said.

"We're honoured to have Travis Lulay and Don Hay join the 2015 Special Olympics BC Winter Games festivities. Their participation helps demonstrate our great respect for the athletes and coaches who have worked so hard to get to these Games, and helps us put on a great show here in Kamloops," says 2015 SOBC Winter Games Chair Pat Davis. "We welcome everyone to join us at the Opening Ceremony to watch these inspirational athletes enjoying the proud moment of walking in together with their teams to represent their regions, and to check out the great show we have planned."
