

Picnic/weiner roast set for Wednesday

The postal staff, in co-operation with the local detachment of the R.C.M.P., are hoping to topple the sales mark of 300 shirts this week.

Last year the Post Office and R.C.M.P. detachment in Indian Head topped all challenges as they sold more t-shirts than any participants in the Torch Run.

This year the two are proceeding at a record clip as the torch run date draws nearer.

The R.C.M.P., postal staff and Indian Head-Wolseley News supported by local business people, are sponsoring a community picnic/weiner roast Wednesday, June 14.

The event is being staged on the lush grass between the Chez Ray Cafe and Credit Union building. All proceeds are destined for the Special Olympics.

Large banners wishing all the runners 'good luck' are at the post office and all citizens are welcome to sign their names.

T-shirts are available at the post office, who have their eyes focused on another sales record. Watch the News and postal boxes for details on the picnic/weiner roast.
