

Special Olympics preparations

With just one month to go, preparations for the Saskatchewan Special Olympics Winter Games are well underway.

A team of local volunteers has been meeting to plan for the arrival of some 150 Special Olympics athletes the weekend of February 12th, 13th, and 14th.

Here Rick Strachan, Michael Herroff of the Saskatchewan Special Olympics organization, Dale

McHarg, Gale Strachan (hidden from the camera) and Darren Whitehead discuss the five sports involved and arrangements for them.

Also working on the Games sports committee are Faye Goos and Lois Keller.

Included will be speed skating, figure skating, downhill skiing, cross country skiing, and snowshoeing.
