

LIGHTING SPECIAL TORCH

Fred Campeau, an athlete from Zone 8, lit the flame for the 1988 Special Olympics on Saturday morning at Prime Ministers' Park. This torch had been carried by RCMP, corrections workers and city police from across the province as well as a few special torch bearers. The flame left Swift Current on Thursday and arrived in Prince Albert on Friday evening and was passed onto Campeau at the Games site on Saturday. In all, approximately 250 runners participated in the torch relay. Special Olympics coverage on Page 11.
