Four Reginaans will be attending the 1995 World Special Olympics Games in New Haven, Conn., July 1-9.

Athletes Jim Wingert (power lifting), Tammy Hilderman (rhythmic gymnastics) and Karen Yanz (rhythmic gymnastics), along with power lifting coach Don Jeanotte, will travel to the Games. There will be over 7,000 athletes from 143 different countries, including 84 from Canada, at the event.

The Saskatchewan Special Olympics Society is holding a pep rally for the group on Tuesday beginning at 6:30 p.m., prior to the Regina Cyclones baseball game at Currie Field. The athletes will perform a demonstration of their sports and throw out the first pitch.
