More than 500 law enforcement personnel from 20 agencies across Saskatchewan will take to the highways for the sixth annual Law Enforcement Torch Run, which starts today and ends Friday.

The run is in support of the Saskatchewan Special Olympics Society and covers more than 1,300 kilometres, originating in Lloydminster, Waskesiu, Watrous, Yorkton, Estevan and Swift Current.

The run culminates at the opening ceremonies of the Special Olympics summer games on Friday at 6:45 p.m. at Regina's Douglas Park track.

All money raised from pledges, fundraising events and T-shirt sales is donated to the Special Olympics. Last year about $64,000 was raised.
